

Dance Party!

These partiers wave their arms to signal the number of times they want to take up on each of the nine spliffs making the rounds.

Each joint lasts the indicated quantity of hits before it's gone.

Most partiers are polite—they puff only once and pass to a new person in the same direction of travel. (Note: people will not offer to pass to partying persons who have previously puffed that particular pup!)

But some people bogart the jane—they puff more than once! After the first puff, these dicks ignore the next person who should get the herb, turn clockwise to someone who has not received that specific blunt yet, and puff again. Then they repeat the turn-and-puff routine. They only pass after they've taken all the hits they want. Not cool, dude.

One fattie has already completed its rounds, as shown. Figure out where the rest will go. What kind of grass did the party have?

Dance Party!

These partiers wave their arms to signal the number of times they want to take up on each of the nine spliffs making the rounds.

Each joint lasts the indicated quantity of hits before it's gone.

Most partiers are polite—they puff only once and pass to a new person in the same direction of travel. (Note: people will not offer to pass to partying persons who have previously puffed that particular pup!)

But some people bogart the jane—they puff more than once! After the first puff, these dicks ignore the next person who should get the herb, turn clockwise to someone who has not received that specific blunt yet, and puff again. Then they repeat the turn-and-puff routine. They only pass after they've taken all the hits they want. Not cool, dude.

One fattie has already completed its rounds, as shown. Figure out where the rest will go. What kind of grass did the party have?

Dance Party!

These partiers wave their arms to signal the number of times they want to take up on each of the nine spliffs making the rounds.

Each joint lasts the indicated quantity of hits before it's gone.

Most partiers are polite—they puff only once and pass to a new person in the same direction of travel. (Note: people will not offer to pass to partying persons who have previously puffed that particular pup!)

But some people bogart the jane—they puff more than once! After the first puff, these dicks ignore the next person who should get the herb, turn clockwise to someone who has not received that specific blunt yet, and puff again. Then they repeat the turn-and-puff routine. They only pass after they've taken all the hits they want. Not cool, dude.

One fattie has already completed its rounds, as shown. Figure out where the rest will go. What kind of grass did the party have?

Dance Party!

These partiers wave their arms to signal the number of times they want to take up on each of the nine spliffs making the rounds.

Each joint lasts the indicated quantity of hits before it's gone.

Most partiers are polite—they puff only once and pass to a new person in the same direction of travel. (Note: people will not offer to pass to partying persons who have previously puffed that particular pup!)

But some people bogart the jane—they puff more than once! After the first puff, these dicks ignore the next person who should get the herb, turn clockwise to someone who has not received that specific blunt yet, and puff again. Then they repeat the turn-and-puff routine. They only pass after they've taken all the hits they want. Not cool, dude.

One fattie has already completed its rounds, as shown. Figure out where the rest will go. What kind of grass did the party have?