

GC brought a copy of the 1963 Clue game board and placed it somewhere in the bar. When the “Clue” logo on the board is oriented the same way as the puzzle page, you should notice that some of the pips on each suspect’s playing card match up with one of the columns of rooms--left, middle, or right--on the Clue board. Use the red numbers in the pips to index into the name of each marked room. (The suspects are already ordered by rainbow colors.)

ANSWER: VANITY
