

Guy Furry

Guy Furry is exhausted after trying a bunch of restaurants across the United States for the latest season of Dinepurrs, Drive-Ins, and Dives. He awoke from a catnap to find all of his notes from a blind taste test got mixed up, and now he can't remember which dishes had a good mouth-feel.

Can you pair each of his notes up with the corresponding menu to get a grip on which dishes touched his taste buds the most?

Find the dishes that match each description. This turns into braille.

Guy Furry's Notes:

Everything here seemed a little fishy, but entrees were a raw deal.

Everything here was soup-er (but it may have just been the liquid diet I was on).

Not to be a name-dropper, but this place was packed with notable culinary legends!

Testing out all the baked goods here was a sweet reward after a long trip.

This place was all over the map, but I liked it best when they stuck to American comfort food.
