

Hello, My Name Is...

Everybody knows that Inigo Montoya excels at swordplay, but few people are aware that he is a master of wordplay as well. He is facing off against his arch nemesis, Count Rugen, in a battle of names. Inigo always slices a letter off the name and rearranges the resulting letters to form a word fitting the definition. Rugen, the six-fingered man, always adds a letter before rearranging. When all the blanks are filled in, read out the deleted letters in order, followed by the added letters in order, to find out why Inigo believes he is certain to win.
