

BONUS: PAPER TRAIL

I came across a street magician who dazzled me with tricks she performed using nothing more than paper, manipulating it in dazzling and unexpected ways. After her act, I cornered her and asked for her name. She said, "Even though I love being the center of attention, I still value my privacy. Here's my business card. To learn my name you have to earn my name – everything you need is on that paper." She left before I could ask any other questions and I'm stumped as to what to do with the card. Can you help me figure out her name?
