

Location: Gathering

Your friends have invited you to an afternoon gathering! The only trouble is you don't remember when you're supposed to go. All you have to go off is this tablecloth that your friends designed specifically for the occasion. You remember talking to them about the design and they showed you the options for each square of the tablecloth. When will you be gathering?

