Math Laughs

*Which is worse:
a mathematician telling jokes, or a comedian doing mathematics?*

What did Euler call the non-artificial limb?

What did the complex analyst call the fictitious wood?

What did the geometer call the part of a road?

What did the geometer call the Tolkien goblin who was a big deal?

~~What did the logician call the dog or cat with nothing inside?~~

What did the number theorist call the circumstance that contributed to celebration of queer identity?

What did the number theorist call the strife that keeps on going?

What did the old-school calculator call the law about sludge?

What did the statistician call the path of a football kick?
