

BULLSEYE

"First up to the oche are Walter and Gracie, retired Maths and English teachers from London."

"Now, Walter, you'll be deciding the categories for your partner, Gracie, to answer. Every single question is worth points, and if Gracie gets them all correct, we'll double your prize pot, so it's definitely worth triple-checking your answers. Remember, the zones closest to the centre score three times more than those one-pointers on the outer edge."

- People of the Netherlands (5)
- Women (6)
- What a king might wear (5)
- Actor's manager (5)
- Green space (4)
- A6 in Excel, for example (4)
- Statement of intention to cause harm (6)
- _____ the gun (do something too soon) (4)
- A rough tool used for smoothing and shaping (4)

Congratulations! You got them all right and have an impressive prize of £200! Whilst I count out your prize over the commercial break, go and have a celebratory drink (or two!).

What will you drink to celebrate this impressive victory?