

Part II: A Voyage to Brobdingnag

Gulliver ventures onward and lands on the shores of Brobdingnag, a land inhabited by giants over 72ft tall. The mayor of Brobdingnag is keen to welcome Gulliver appropriately and so is assembling a receiving line of five giants. With ten giants competing for the positions the mayor must start by scoring each attempted line-up if he wants to end up with the perfect configuration.

Brobdingnag

Mayor's scoring system

- = one correct giant, in the correct place
- = one correct giant, in the wrong place
